STATE MATTERS.

Our friends throughout the State are under obligations if they can furnish us with any items of news or any transpire in their respective sections, as we desire to make this department specially full.

A negro woman died at Durham last week at the age of 111 years.

Person county has appointed delegates to the Greensboro Convention.

The Catawba Springs will be sold on the 22nd of May.

What is looking well in Caswell, Orange and Person counties.

J. B. Hesse, Esq., has left Newton for his western tour.

Legs is retailing at 1 cent per pound at Wilmington.

Ansley Superior Court, Judges Buxton presiding, is in session this week.

J. Bunn has been lodged in Wayne county jail, charged with arson.

Lexington Superior Court, Judge Clarke presiding, is in session.

W. H. JOYNER, Esq., of Johnston county is spoken of for the House of Representatives.

Two saw mill and lumber yard of W. and P. J. Mangum were destroyed by the recent fire at Durham.

Delegates have been appointed to the Greensboro Convention from Catawba county.

The report that Capt. Swift Galloway had hereafter affiliated with the Radical party, is denounced as false by the Greensboro Messenger.

A destructive fire occurred in New Hanover county, on the lands of Dr. J. P. Simpson, destroying turpentine, turpentine tree and other property. It is believed the fire was the work of some malicious person.

Dr. HOWERTON has commenced suit to control of the Western North Carolina Railroad. The case will come up before Judge Cloud, at Salisbury, this week.

The Elizabeth City Economist, one of the best literary papers ever published in the State, has not made its appearance for either in two or three weeks. We miss its weekly visits.

Col. THOMAS B. LONG, of Rowan, and Del. J. Mott have been appointed delegates to the Cincinnati Convention of the Republicans of the 7th Congressional District. Messrs. Lillingston, of Davie, and Bringle, of Rowan, were appointed alternates.

A MEETING of the Conservatives and Democrats of Alamance county, was held on the 20th inst. B. F. Roney, Esq., being Chairman, and James A. Graham, Jacob Wagner and W. Gaston Stafford, Secretaries. A committee of eleven was appointed to draft resolutions for the consideration of the meeting. Resolutions of opposition to Radicalism in every shape and form, and favoring an economical and constitutional administration of the government, both State and National; favoring the Constitutional amendments proposed by the last General Assembly, and that in opposing radicalism, republicanism or whatever other name Caldwell's party might call itself, they were but opposing speculation, fraud, corruption and tyranny, were unanimously adopted. The meeting was addressed by Dr. D. A. Montgomery, S. H. Webb and Col. A. McAllister. The thanks of the party were tendered Capt. James A. Graham and Col. A. C. McAllister for their faithful services in the last General Assembly. It was resolved to appoint 200 delegates to the Greensboro Convention and thirty-three to the District Congressional Convention.

SOME twenty-five families, principally from Canada, but embracing the Scotch and English element, have recently bought lands and settled around Henderson, on the line of the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, and we are pleased to learn that they have gone actively to work, with a view of making a livelihood in our midst. They all bring with them sufficient capital for present purposes—to pay for their land and have a good margin to commence operations with, and some few of them are capitalists and are now engaged in trading with their money. One of these settlers, a Scotchman, wrote a letter to a friend in Norfolk, Va., under date of the 19th inst., a portion of which the Virginia of that city copies, and which we reproduce here.

"After travelling fifteen days," says the writer, "through this State, I must say that the future greatness of North Carolina is beyond the power of the most gifted pen to depict. This country is of great natural beauty, unlimited resources, rich in sunshine, fruits, flowers, cotton, corn, tobacco, cattle, minerals and great water power, with splendid central points for manufacturing enterprises. No country can be found on this broad earth to furnish a more delightful home than this, which for fertility of soil, serenity of climate and variety of products is unsurpassed. I think North Carolina ought to be famous for its clear streams, stalwart men and bonnie lassies. I have bought a small farm of two hundred and fifty acres near Henderson."

The Virginia, commenting on this letter, says:

"The clear-headed and thrifty people of North Carolina are not remarkable for sudden outbreaks of enthusiasm; and the Scotchman who wrote the letter now before us, from which the above is an extract, is no exception to his race. But cool and calm and clear headed as the writer is, the great natural advantages of our sister State have made him captive, and the letter he wrote to his friend in this city is but a specimen of what he sent home to his own circle. By this means, the claims of Virginia and North Carolina will every day be more strongly enforced on the notice of the best classes of English speaking kinsmen."

There were twenty-five deaths in Richmond during the week ending last Saturday.

The Talaquah Slaughter—Peculiar Butchery in a Cherokee Court House.

We give below an account, taken from a letter from Little Rock, Ark., to the New York Harold, of the recent slaughter at Talaquah:

On the 17th inst., a white man named J. K. Kester, living in the Cherokee Nation, near the Arkansas line, about fifty miles from this city, came here and filed information before United States Commissioner Churchill against one Proctor, also a white man married to a Cherokee woman, for assaulting him, with intent to kill. He stated that while in his saw mill on the 13th of February last, Proctor came in, walked up without provocation and shot his wife dead. He then fired his revolver at him, the ball striking just above the left eye. Before he could fire again Kester escaped. It is further stated that Proctor is undergoing trial now for the murder of his wife at the Court house in the Snake district, about fifty-seven miles northwest of here. A writ was issued and the Deputy Marshals were instructed to go to the Courthouse and remain until the trial was over, and if he was not convicted, to arrest him on the other charge. Proctor is known to be a desperado, and it being in the neighborhood where Deputy Marshal Bentz was killed a little over a month ago—where, in fact, a Deputy Marshal is shot at almost on sight—it was necessary that a strong posse be sent. The party also had writs for the murderers of United States Deputy Marshal Bentz, who are supposed to be in the immediate vicinity, and they intended to resist arrest. Last Saturday morning, the 18th inst., Deputy Marshals Jacob G. Owens, Joseph G. Peavy, with William Wood, Joseph G. Vannoy, James Haskins, Paul Jones and Eugene Brockert, as a posse, left here for the scene of action. At Evansville, they were joined by Riley, Woods and William J. Morris, and at Dutoctown by a man named Beck, who is part Cherokee. The Indian Court House is about twelve miles west of that place. The party proceeded, and about three P. M., on Monday, they were within fifty yards of the Courthouse. They dismounted and hitched their horses and quietly walked towards the east side of the house in file by twos. They stopped at the corner, and Beck stepped around to the front door and looked in. Seeing a large number of people inside armed to the teeth, he turned immediately to come away, but before he was fired upon and dangerously wounded. At the same time a volley was poured from the Court House upon the Marshals' force without, who then commenced to return the fire. They were at great disadvantage, as the attacking party was under shelter inside the Court House.

It appears Beck had some friends inside the Court House, who, when they saw him fall, opened fire on his (Beck's) enemies inside, and presently the fighting was general. It was brief, however, but terrible in its result. Of the Marshals' force, seven out of eleven lay dead, and of the assailants three. Some sixteen or seventeen are reported wounded, some mortally, including Marshal Owens. The messenger knew the names of only two of the Marshals' force who were killed—James Ward and Riley Woods. Three were missing—James Haskins, Paul Jones and Eugene Brockert. Morris helped to lay out nine bodies on a porch, about half a mile from the scene of the deadly affray, and thither the federal wounded were also carried.

Proctor, the woman killer and desperado, was guarded by eleven of his personal friends, who would not see him convicted.

The Sheriff was killed and the Judge received three buckshot in the knee. Indeed, it appears from the sudden and deadly assault upon the Marshals' force, that the people inside the Court House had been fully informed of their approach, and were prepared for them. The officials had instructions to make a demand for Proctor only in case of his acquittal, and expected some resistance should they attempt to arrest Proctor after his acquittal, but for the murderous volley on their first approach they were not prepared, hence their slaughter.

The Richmond Whig, of the 24th inst., says: We saw yesterday, in the possession of Mr. Nicholson, of Fredericksburg, a collection of relics which he prizes as a treasure. The collection consists of a stump of a pencil, once the property of Robert Burns, and no doubt used by him in writing some of his poems; two teeth of Nancy Davidson, and the remnant of a quid of tobacco which Burns placed in her mouth a short time before her death. These relics are carefully preserved by Mr. Nicholson in a small metallic box.

A convict in the Auburn State Prison stabbed one of the keepers a day or two since, the keeper, after he was stabbed, shooting the convict through the arm.

Richmond and Northernland counties, Va., have shipped over 750 tons of ivy root during the last twelve months.

Mrs. Stokes, an old lady of Lunenburg county, Va., was burned to death a few days ago.

About $175,000 has been put out of the Virginia treasury as interest on the public debt.

It is stated that the recent trembling of the earth at Ashland, Va., was really a shock of an earthquake.

The steamer Neva has been wrecked on the coast of the Island of Banca, in the Malay archipelago. All were saved.

An attempt was made on Monday night to destroy the American Hotel, Portsmouth, Va.

At the recent term of the Circuit Court of Wythe county, Va., four divorces were granted.

Mr. C. Baker Raine will attend the Cincinnati Convention as a delegate from Petersburg, Va.

Mr. Slater, of Alexandria, Va., sold strawberries in Washington City a few days since at $7 per quart.

The fence law will probably be abolished in Spottsylvania county, Va.

Several members of the Japanese embassy will visit Richmond, Va.

A juvenile temperance society has been organized in Alexandria, Va.

The West Virginia penitentiary has 106 convicts.

FOR SALE. WARRENTON HOTEL.

FOR SALE. In consequence of old age and infirm health for the last several years, and not being able to attend to the duties of a hotel, I have resolved to sell the above property, which is located in the town of Warrenton, Warren county, N. C. The hotel contains some thirty rooms, and all necessary outbuildings, and can accommodate from 20 to 75 guests comfortably. It is the only public house in the village. Warrenton is celebrated for its healthfulness, good society and schools. There are four churches of different denominations in the village, and it has been for many years a favorite resort of persons seeking health in summer and fall. This property will be sold lower than any property of the kind ever offered to the public. I deem it useless to give a further description of the property, as any person desiring to purchase, can come and examine the premises. I am determined to sell.

The hotel will continue open for the reception of the traveling public, and I intend to sell the property in the summer, to call upon me. My terms will be moderate. MRS. M. B. BROWNLOW.

GROWING OLD TOGETHER.

Do you know I am thinking to-morrow
We shall pass on our journey through life.
One more of the milestones that bring us
still nearer the end of our journey.
The glad anniversary morning
of our wedding day cometh once more.
And its evening will find us still waiting.
Who had thought to have gone long before.

We are old wife, I know by the furrows
Time has plowed on your brow once so fair.
I know by the crown of bright silver
He has left on your once raven hair.
I know by the frost on the flowers
That brightened our life in its dawn.
I know by the graves in the church-yard,
Where we counted our dead yesternorn.

Your hair has been humble and told worn,
Your guest has been trouble, good wife,
Part sunshine, more trials and sorrows,
Have made up your record through life,
But may the thought cheer you, my dear
one.

Your patience and sweet clinging love
Have made for me here such a heaven,
I have asked, "Is there brighter above?"
In life's winter, sweet wife, we are living,
But its storms all unheeded will fall;
What care we who have loved and each other.

Who have proved, each to each, all in all?
Hand in hand, we wait the coming
Giving thanks, down to the valley we go;
For to love and grow old together
Is the highest bliss mortals can know.

Some children are still left to bless us,
And lighten our hearts day by day.
In hope is not always fruition.
We will strive to keep on the right way.
We have sowed and have reaped, but the harvest
That garners the world we await.
And happily, at last, we may enter
Together the beautiful gate.

IMPORTANCE OF BEING ABLE TO DE-SPISE RIDICULE.—I know of no principal which it is of more importance to fix in the minds of young people, than that of most determined resistance to the encroachments of ridicule. Give up to the world, and to the world, and to the ridicule with which the world
enforces its domination, every trifling question of manner, and appearance;
it is to lose courage and firmness to the winds, to combat with the mass upon such subjects as these. But learn from the earliest days to insure your principles against the perils of ridicule; you can no more exercise your reason, if you live in the constant dread of laughter, than you can enjoy your life, if you are in the constant terror of death. If you think it right to differ from the times,
and to make a stand for any valuable point of morals, do it, however rustic, however antiquated, however pedantic
it may appear; do it, not for insolence, but seriously and grandly, as a man who wore a soul of his own on his bosom,
and did not wait until it was breathed into him by the breath of fashion. Let men call you mean, if you know you are just; hypocritical, if you are honestly religious; puffed-up, if you feel you are firm; resistance, sound converts unprincipled wit to sincere respect;
no after time can tear from you those feelings which every man carries with him who has made a noble and successful exertion in a virtuous cause.—Sidney Smith.

A man up in Toga county bragged a great deal about a dog of his which always went for the doctor when anybody was sick. When upon a journey in the neighborhood he has a dog who will always go for the doctor if for any other man, whether any body is sick or not. And the doctor will know what that means, too. How strange and incomprehensible are the instincts of these animals! They seem sometimes almost to resemble human reason.

An old preacher once took for his text: "Adam where art thou?" and divided his subject into three parts:
1st All men are somewhere.
2d Some men are where they ought not to be.
3d Unless they take care, they will very soon find themselves where they would rather not be.

There is a 4th class, we think. It is those who get behind in the race, and are generally said to be nowhere.

"Poor thing," observed a tender-hearted bridgeport lady, in speaking of the death of a young friend, "she had just got a forty-dollar set of furs, and beauties they were; but she don't need such things now."

A man called another an extortioner
for saying him, "Why, my friend, required the man who brought the suit." "I did it to oblige you,"
"To oblige me, indeed—how so?"
"Why to oblige you to pay me."

The only way to keep all your friends and make no enemies is to speak well of people who have names are mentioned to you but never to speak of any one to a third party.

Emerson says: "In the great household of nature, the farmer stands at the door of the bread-room and weighs to each his loaf."

"The strongest propensity in a woman's nature," says a careful student of the sex, "is to want to know what is going on, and the next is to boss the job."
